About WHRB

For over seventy-five years, WHRB 95.3 FM (Harvard Radio Broadcasting), a commercial non-profit station, has been a staple of Boston area radio. WHRB broadcasts 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, on FM and streaming on our website, whrb.org.

Harvard Radio is proud to be one of just two classical music providers in the Greater Boston area as well as the only broadcaster of morning jazz. WHRB is also honored to be the exclusive provider of the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts in the area.

Beyond Classical Music and Jazz, WHRB's Punk Rock, Hip-Hop/R&B, News, and Harvard Sports broadcasts, as well as Boston's beloved Hillbilly at Harvard, make WHRB an integral part of the Boston radio scene.

We hope you let us connect you to our devoted, loyal, and expansive listenership. WHRB's programming serves a variety of large, upscale, and unique audiences, creating a tremendous amount of opportunities for advertisers to reach potential customers, increase cash flow, and improve profitability.

Classical Music

WHRB Classical Music is one of our oldest departments, with a storied history stretching back eight decades. From pioneering the Orgy® in the Spring of 1943 with Beethoven's nine symphonies, WHRB is one of just two broadcasters of classical music across Boston and there is a program for every classical music taste:

- Weekdays from 1pm to 6pm, we play a range of evergreen classics from the Medieval period to the 20th century, by renowned and lesser-known composers alike. Look out for our special segments: Request Night from 6pm to 10pm on Fridays; Special Concerts from 7pm to 10pm on Mondays; Historical Performances from 6pm to 8pm on Sundays (among others!).
- WHRB is the only station in Boston to have presented opera every week for over 50 years with our Sunday Night at the Opera broadcasts from 8pm to midnight. WHRB is also the official broadcaster of the Saturday matinee Metropolitan Opera from December to May each year which is supplemented by special pre-Met and post-Met programs.
- In addition to broadcasting music, WHRB also conducts interviews with prominent conductors and performers, ranging from Boston Philharmonic Youth Orchestra (BPYO) conductor Benjamin Zander to Canadian pianist Stewart Goodyear.

Sports

WHRB Sports is the exclusive student broadcaster for Harvard sports. Our experienced and passionate analysts provide live coverage of the entire Harvard football season, as well as home games and select road contests for hockey, basketball, and more. In addition to live coverage, WHRB Sports also hosts a biweekly talk show on Sunday afternoons from 1 to 2pm. WHRB is a prime way to reach all Harvard Sports fans, whether they are current students, members of our vast alumni network, or one the many local supporters.

The Record Hospital

Record Hospital has played an integral role in uplifting the local Boston DIY music scene and cultivating the punk rock tradition in contemporary music for over four decades. Drawing on a large and extraordinary collection of recordings — including punk, pop, hardcore, emo, new wave, no wave, post-punk, proto-punk, indie, and much more, our DJs bring together small, independent artists spanning traditional genre divides into the limelight of commercial radio. Our programming runs on Monday through Thursday from 10 p.m. to 5 a.m.

Record Hospital hosts and broadcasts weekly live shows in our studio, which draw crowds from and beyond the Harvard community. Our annual benefit music festival, Record Hospital Fest, raises money for Boston-area charities and showcases bands from around New England.

Jazz

There is no match to the creativity, talent, and variety that WHRB Jazz brings to Boston's airwaves. On weekdays from 5am to 1pm, the "Jazz Spectrum" is proud to showcase all that the world of jazz has to offer—from the classics that built the genre in the United States to the expansion of jazz worldwide and into the 21st century.

We are especially proud of our dedicated DJ's who explore the impact of past jazz artists on each other and on contemporary artists. Jazz is not stagnant, and the focus of each of our DJ's is to emphasize something unique about jazz within the fabric of music as a whole, whether that is the connection between past and present, the role of popular culture, the effects of human migration, or anything else that jazz teaches us about our culture.

Most of all, the key to the Jazz Spectrum's longtime success is its dedicated listenership, continuing a long tradition of the love of jazz in Boston and constantly inspires our DJ's to play new and exciting music.

Blues

One of Boston's few Blues programs, WHRB's Blues Hangover, which takes place Saturdays from 5-9 AM and Sundays from 7-11 AM, reaches a large crowd of blues lovers with irresistible recordings from the earliest years of blues to today's biggest names.

WHRB Blues plays a critical role in both the preservation and evolution of Blues music as one of Boston's few Blues programs.

Every Saturday from 5am to 9am, and Sunday from 7am to 11am WHRB Blues DJs play classic Blues songs by artists like Bessie Smith, Ma Rainey, Mississippi John Hurt, Lightnin' Hopkins, Buddy Guy and many more, also featuring contemporary Blues musicians like Amythyst Kiah, Keb' Mo', and Jon Batiste. These shows, called "The Blues Hangover," are an integral part of keeping the Blues tradition alive and on-air in Cambridge and beyond.

The Blues Hangover is supported and loved by many faithful listeners, and we are thrilled to have a strong base of WHRB DJs to keep Blues music on air for many years to come.

Hillbilly at Harvard

Hillbilly at Harvard has been hailed by critics and a devoted audience as the best country and western show in New England. A Boston radio institution for over 50 years, Hillbilly at Harvard has the kind of audience loyalty Boston reserves for only the few. The program, which takes place every Saturday from 9 AM to 1 PM, includes a unique and extraordinarily lively mix of old and modern country-and-western and bluegrass, presented with insight and fun.

The Darker Side

Four Black students founded The Darker Side in 1975 to celebrate music inspired and created by Black artists. The name, as one of TDS' founders explains, is "a poetic way of referencing that it is Black music," and the department was a first-of-its-kind in Boston. Nearly 50 years later, the DJs that make up WHRB's now largest department remain passionate about and committed to carrying on the traditions and mission its founders established.

Dr. Dre, De La Soul, and various other icons have recorded station IDs for The Darker Side throughout its vibrant history. TDS broadcasts live on weekend nights: from 10:00 p.m. on Friday to 5 a.m. on Saturday, 9 p.m. on Saturday to 7 a.m. on Sunday, and 12 a.m. to 5 a.m. on Monday.

News

WHRB News offers a variety of interviews and stories that matter to the Cambridge-Boston community. Airing anything from weekly headlines recapping Cambridge news to eclectic podcasts with local bakers and businesses, we also hosts one-on-one interviews with a variety of prominent guests and investigative deep-dives into the hottest campus news.

We've hosted smaller local artists and recognizable names, from Rakesh Khurana to Bill Gates. Every Sunday at 12pm, WHRB News delivers diverse, rich, and important content, and we take pride in our 81 years of service to the community.

We have worked with businesses and organizations creating sponsored content in, such as the "Where Are They Now" podcast series. With a skilled team of reporters, studio engineers, and musicians, WHRB News is able to offer quality content to a wide reach of audiences within the Boston area and all over the world.

Orgy Season

Don't be shocked by the name—it's not what you think. A WHRB Orgy™ (a US trademark) is an extended (4+ hour!), themed set. Orgys only happen during the week leading up to Harvard's final exams, and during that period, we ONLY play orgys. DJs can be as creative with themes as they like— whether they only play songs by one artist for four hours, go through the entire history of jazz in six, there's no shortage of delightful tunes for any kind of radio listener. Orgy season is a flexible one for promotions— there are none of the usual timing or thematic constraints that are generally associated with scheduled departmental programming. Ads of special content or special length can be run as we have had organizations sponsor/underwrite Orgies with unique themes to great success. Our Orgy season is from April 25 through May 1st.
